

~~SECRET~~

ILLEGIB

Stray, P.D.C.9 Sept 57

PROGRAM FOR THE CIA PRESENTATION TO THE STAFF, FACULTY AND STUDENT BODY OF THE NATIONAL WAR COLLEGE

1. Time and Dates: 1330 to 1630, 9 September 1957
2. Place: R&S Building, Ohio Drive, Potomac Park
3. Schedule of Presentations:

1330 - 1335 Welcome and Introduction - Lt. General Charles Cabell, DDCI.

25X1

1335 - 1415 Origin, Missions and Structure of CIA - Mr. Lyman Kirkpatrick, The Inspector General.

1415 - 1420 Break

1420 - 1500 CIA, The Intelligence Community and the NSC - Mr. Robert Amory, Deputy Director (Intelligence).

25X1

1500 - 1505 Break

25X1

1505 - 1545 Foreign and Counterintelligence Operations - Mr. Frank Wisner, Deputy Director (Plans).

1545 - 1550 Break

1550 - 1630 Psychological and Paramilitary Operations - Mr. Allen Dulles, Director of Central Intelligence.

25X1

25X1

~~SECRET~~

DIRECTOR OF TRAINING

ADMIRAL WOOLDRIDGE, GENTLEMEN -

We have arranged a presentation on CIA and its activities which will include the participation of the Deputy Director of Central Intelligence, Lieutenant General C. P. Cabell, USAF; Mr. Lyman Kirkpatrick, the Inspector General; Mr. Robert Amory, Jr., the Deputy Director of Intelligence; Mr. Frank G. Wisner, the Deputy Director of Plans; and finally, Mr. Allen W. Dulles, the Director of Central Intelligence.

General Cabell will be the first speaker and will welcome you to CIA, as well as discuss the program; Mr. Kirkpatrick will deal with the Origin, the Mission and the Structure of the Central Intelligence Agency; Mr. Robert Amory, Jr., will discuss CIA and the Intelligence Community and its relationship to the National Security Council; Mr. Wisner will discuss CIA's Foreign Intelligence and Counterintelligence Operations; and Mr. Dulles will discuss CIA's Psychological and Paramilitary Operations.

Get luc Lt. Gen. Lucian Truscott Dep. Dir. Coordination
Col. Lawrence R. White Support

DEPUTY DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE

Throughout his military career General Cabell has been closely identified with the production of intelligence on the one hand, and the use of intelligence in the planning and conduct of air operations. In addition to holding the rating of Command Pilot, General Cabell is also rated as a Technical Observer.

Holding the rating of Command Pilot during W.W. II
During World War Two General Cabell served as Director of Plans for the U.S. Strategic Air Force in Europe, and later as Director of Operations and Intelligence for the Mediterranean Allied Air Force at Caserta, Italy.

In the postwar period he served a three year tour as Director of Intelligence of the United States Air Force from which position he became Director of the Joint Staff. After Joint Chiefs General Cabell became Deputy Director of Central Intelligence on 23 April 1953, and he is here to welcome you this afternoon as the first speaker of the program we arranged for you.

INSPECTOR GENERAL

The Inspector General of CIA is unusually well qualified to present his subject from the vantage point of his office, ~~now~~ since for almost 10 years he has held various senior positions within the Agency and has watched it develop and grow from the early days of the predecessor organizations, OSS and the Central Intelligence Group, into what is now called the Central Intelligence Agency. During World War Two he served in Europe as an OSS Detachment Commander with the First Army and the Twelfth U. S. Army Group. He also served as G-2 briefing officer to General Bradley during the European Campaign.

He will speak to you on the subject of the Origin, Missions and Structure of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Mr. Lyman Kirkpatrick, The Inspector General.

DEPUTY DIRECTOR, INTELLIGENCE

Robert Amory, Jr., the Deputy Director of Intelligence is responsible for planning and directing the intelligence production effort of the Central Intelligence Agency, and for representing the Agency on the Planning Board of the National Security Council. It is his responsibility, not only to accomplish the general coordination of the intelligence production activities of the Intelligence Community, as a whole, but also to relate this effort to the needs of the National Security Council.

Mr. Amory has a unique military background, which in its later stages can best be described as "joint" or "amphibious." Commissioned as a Field Artillery man in 1941, following a period of enlisted duty, he was ultimately detailed to the Corps of Engineers to command an Engineer Boat Battalion. He trained this unit and commanded it in the Southwest Pacific for over two years. His outfit fought in four campaigns and completed more than 20 assault landings.

Mr. Amory will speak to you on the subject of CIA, the Intelligence Community and its relationship to the National Security Council.

Mr. Robert Amory, Deputy Director of Intelligence.

THE DEPUTY DIRECTOR, PLANS

Our next speaker, The Deputy Director (Plans), Mr. Frank G. Wisner, is responsible for the planning and direction of CIA's clandestine operations overseas. His intelligence career began in 1941 when he was called to active duty by the Office of Naval Intelligence. From 1943 to 1946 he was detailed to the Office of Strategic Services and served overseas in Africa, the Middle East, the Balkans, France and Germany. During this period he served as Chief of U. S. and Special Operations Missions in Turkey and in the Balkans, as well as Chief of Foreign Intelligence of the OSS German Mission under the direction of Allen W. Dulles.

In 1947 and 48 he served as Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Occupied Areas (Germany, Japan, Austria and Korea). He entered CIA in 1948 to organize and direct the activities which he will now describe to you.

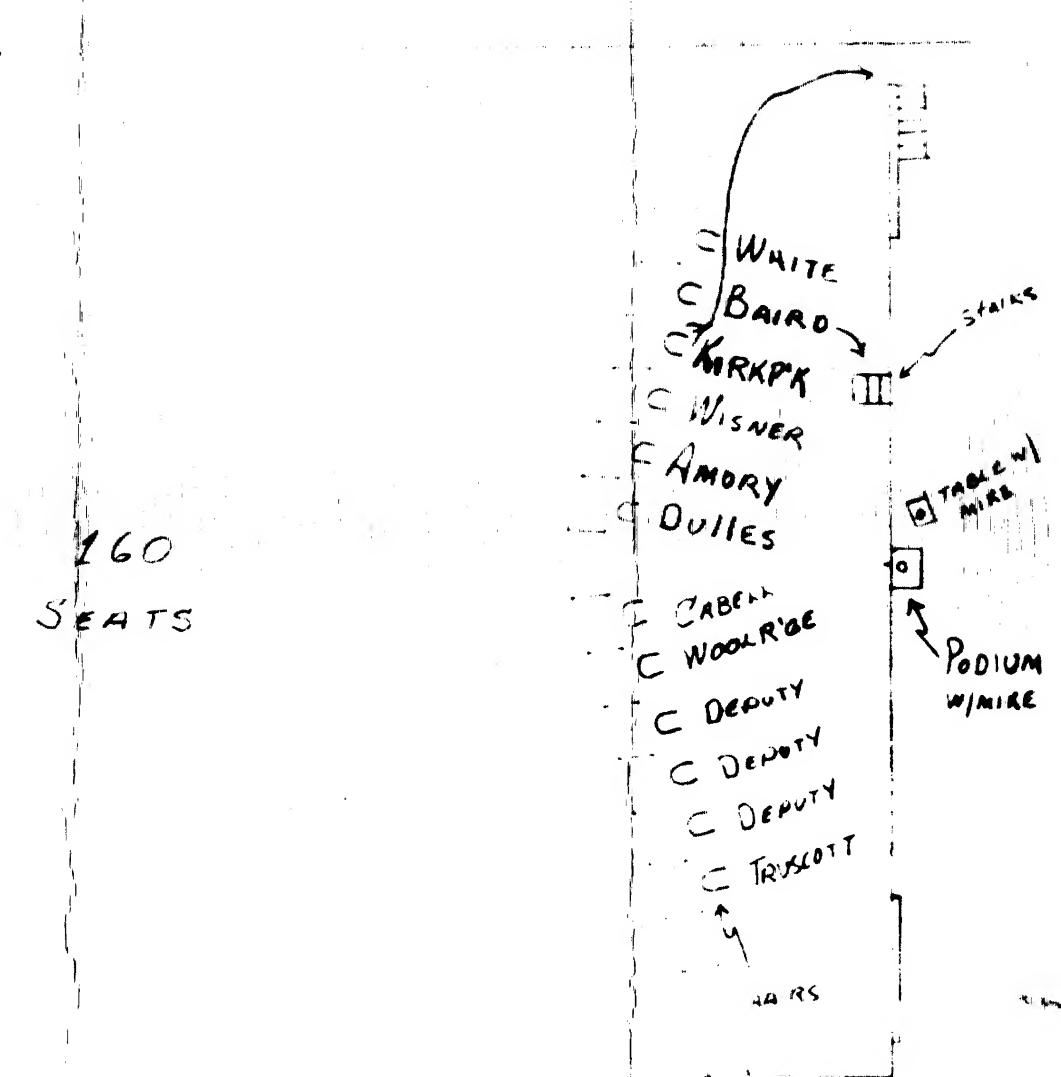

Mr. Frank G. Wisner, Deputy Director (Plans).

NWC - SEATING - Rows - Present

Front Row

160
SEATS

Approved For Release 2003/08/05 : CIA-RDP60-00594A000200020003-0

Approved For Release 2003/08/05 : CIA-RDP60-00594A000200020003-0